How to Manually Update/Refresh Your License

EViews 7 License Manager has a new built-in feature that automatically "refreshes" each installed license. This occurs every morning and requires internet access for the server machine. If internet is restricted on the server machine, you will have to manually update/refresh your licenses by doing the following:

EViews License Management Console

Run "EViews License Management Console". (This program should have been installed on the License Server and can also be installed by itself on any other computer on your network)

In the left window, you should see your license server already listed. If you do not, you can right-click "EViews License Servers" and select "Add New Server", then type in the name of the computer that is running the License Server.

Now, if you see a red gear icon next to the server name, this means the server is not running. To start the server, rightclick the server name and select "Start".

Click the server name in the left window. At this point, the Management Console should look something like this:

Extension to Refresh Period

If you are required to manually update your license, please contact me at steve@eviews.com to ask for an extension to your refresh period (make sure you include your serial number(s) in the email). I can increase it from 30 days to 90 days so you don't have to manually refresh as often.

Also, if you are running the license server on an actual physical machine (not a virtual machine) and will not need to run on a virtual machine in the near future, I can increase the refresh period to 1 year.
